The purchase of the lake originally, caused much puralement; what was to be done with it? I heard que reason given. The Vicercy, was probably intending to include a western science department, hence the sudents would be required to, enter on western amusements as well as weetern studies. Westerns are always eager to bathe, and sprin; hence the lake was provided for the immersion of the students! On which I may, comment that the Chinese attachet to whom entrance on such a schelarship might be proposed would decline before seeing the pond, and a foreign student-would decline as emphatically after sceing it.  The alterations of residence necessitated by all this building have been carried out with justice and considerations ave in one particular, which gives the usual handle for complaint of the Vicercy's scheme. It is a remarkable evidence of the interworkings of despatic and democratic power that in a land where no iman can buy a piece of land miless the neighbours. Are agreeable, the founder of a college can shut up a public read by buying up the houses, on both sides of a part of its course. "Mar's Hill" is the only read for half a mile, connecting at right angles the two main streets of this part of the city, yet because it runniforms through the college it is understood that it is to be closed. The Vicercy, who wished to apply scholarship to the practical results of science and trade, does not hesitate to damage the trade of an entire quarter due the promotion of scholarmit; while even the scholars, who will chiefly benefit, talk of the damage to trade, the disturbance of households and the waste of public mency.
